

I recently viewed "Going Up River" and realize there is a completely different view of John Kerry's service in Viet Nam and afterwards. Showing just one side from the viewpoint of "Stolon Honor" on public airways is not respecting the broad spectrum of viewers of ABC.

If you do go ahead with this plan I will pay attention to sponsors with a serious intent of making my views known to them.

Fairness in the media is a precious, precious gift. We abhor foreign TV and radio when they always slant the news as something that happens in dictatorships without a free press. Let's not discard the fairness of our free press and airwaves without considering deeply its horrible consequences.
